On June 26-28, 2011, teens from across North America are invited to Washington, DC, to take part in an extraordinary experience – a Jewish Teen Summit on Human Rights and Genocide.

For three days, a diverse group of Jewish teens will come together in the nation's capitol to learn about Genocide and how they can stand up and speak out against these worldwide atrocities.

They will hear from activists, meet with their Members of Congress, and most importantly, they will walk away from this PANIM summit armed with increased knowledge about human rights and genocide, enhanced skills as a community leader, and a greater understanding of their own civic responsibility.

The Human Rights and Genocide Summit is $250 and $150 for all March of the Living Alumni
